

James F. Costello, 92

James F. Costello, 92, of Duxbury, formerly of Liscuib, Ballymacward, County Galway, Ireland, died peacefully March 22, 2018 surrounded by his loving family.

Jim was the beloved husband for 62 years of Patricia (Joyce) Costello. He leaves his children: Ann Marie Chandler; Barbara Bartlett and her husband Douglas; Clare Costello; James A. Costello and his wife Shelly; Patricia McGill and her husband Robert; Thomas Costello and his wife Marisa; and Timothy and his wife Brigitte. He was the cherished grandfather of James Chandler, Parker Chandler, Alicia Gaignard, Monica Chandler, Helen and Emma Bartlett, John, Mary and Katherine Costello, Andrew and Katherine McGill, Brendan and Aidan Costello and Elise and Kaylee Costello. He leaves his great-grandchildren: Paul and Maeve Chandler, Ainsleigh Chandler and Evalyn Gaignard. Jim was the son of the late Thomas and Ellen (Keane) Costello of County Galway, Ireland and the brother of Mary "Chris" O'Brien of Kingston; Ann "Nancy" Townley of Nebraska; Teresa Costello S.P., of Indiana; Margaret Boyd of Weymouth; Agnes Pouliot of Whitman; Thomas Costello of Whitman and the late Michael, John and Patrick "Eddie" Costello. Jim is also survived by his many nieces and nephews.

Jim was born and raised in Ireland and immigrated to the United States in 1948. He was a proud veteran of the US Army, serving in the 20th Engineer Combat Battalion. After receiving an honorable discharge from the Army, Jim joined the Carpenter's Union Local 33 in Boston where he worked until his retirement. He was devoted to his family and his church. He was a member and past Grand Knight, Knights of Columbus, Saint Vincent de Paul Society and American Legion.

A Celebration of Life Mass was celebrated at Holy Family Church, Duxbury on March 27. Visiting hours were on Monday, March 26 at Sullivan Funeral Home, Hanover. Interment was in Mayflower Cemetery Duxbury.
